COURSE OUTLINE

This is an intensive five day hands-on course held at the Faculty of Dentistry at The University of British Columbia on cast gold procedures using a technique developed by Dr. R.V. Tucker. Each day begins with a lecture before proceeding to the hands-on clinical day. In addition to working on individual patient cases, participants will gain a more in-depth understanding of laboratory procedures.

Participants are responsible for providing their own assistant, patients, and supplies.

For clinicians from out of town arrangements can be made for assistant and suitable patient candidates if required. Please contact Dr. Margaret Webb at m.webb@arbutusdental.com to request arrangements.

CLINICIAN

Margaret A. Webb, DMD, graduated from The University of British Columbia and has a private practice in general dentistry in Vancouver, B.C. She is actively involved in the Academy of R.V. Tucker Study Clubs and is the Co-coordinator of the cast gold course for 3rd year dental students at UBC. Dr. Webb received the Clinician of the Year from the American Academy of Gold Foil Operators in November 2008. Dr. Webb is also a member of the Academy of Operative Dentistry, International College of Dentists and the American College of Dentists.
